

Thank you, and congratulations! You are now the proud owner of Vaeyan IV. With this fourth round of assorted effects, we explored the sounds of a cabin deep in the woods, a collection of hand tools, some outdoor excursions, various children's toys, new and vintage cameras, household wares, odd mechanical devices, doors, windows, and even a slingshot. As with all Vaeyan libraries, we want to provide a collection of sounds that cover a broad range in character and purpose. This particular library covers most everything from long drones to piercing transients; organic fodder to synthesized designs. Rhyme or reason? There is none. However, you are sure to find inspiration buried within and with doubt, there is no substitution in the creative process for an interesting sound that sparks a new idea.

(The cyclone becomes a tempest with an ever-growing barrage of auditory precipitation.)

In this library:

- 968 audio files
- 96 kHz / 24-bit .wav format
- Mono + Stereo
- Wide variety of design assets
- Mechanical, textures, natural, synthetics, ambient, everyday items

Eiravaein Works

Eiravaein Works is a roving sound design and audio project company that is driven by precision, identity, and creative path-forging. Each sound we work with is unique and all audio offered through Eiravaein Works is 100% original. We strive to create sound libraries that are outside of the everyday user's collection. We like to mold the uncommon and the meaningful so that we may produce something previously not conceived.

And on top of all of that awesomeness, we give free updates, for life. Any additions or improvements that we may make to our libraries are totally and utterly FREE for our patrons.
